Commercial Alliance Recipient for the Year 2016" by the Commercial Alliance for Sustainable Energy (C.A.S.E). This comes on the heels of the DERCO's success in 2013 and 2014 as a "C.A.S.E. Commercial Alliance Recipient for the Year 2014" and "2013," respectively. Each year, the C.A.S.E. awards recipients for outstanding collaboration, project management and execution in the United States as measured by progress toward the goal of a 100% market penetration of solar photovoltaic (PV) electricity. The DERCO is truly honored by the acknowledgment of its achievements. Congratulations to the DERCO team on this prestigious award!The House Intelligence Committee subpoenaed an additional 24 individuals Tuesday, adding a number of officials from Trump's campaign and transition to the list of people to be questioned. The White House has directed a variety of current and former officials to comply with the subpoena, which is related to the panel's investigation into Russian interference in the 2016 election. GOP Committee Chairman Devin Nunes (Calif.), in a statement, said the Democrats "are engaged in a desperate and futile attempt to prove their collusion narrative." ADVERTISEMENT "It is clear that the greater the Democrats' reliance on the Steele dossier, the more desperate they became in their quest for the White House," Nunes said, referring to the now-debunked document compiled by a former British spy that claimed Russia had compromising information on President Trump Donald John TrumpBiden on Trump's refusal to commit to peaceful transfer of power: 'What country are we in?' Romney: 'Unthinkable and unacceptable' to not commit to peaceful transition of power Two Louisville police officers shot amid Breonna Taylor grand jury protests MORE. The document, which was paid for by Democrats, was used to justify the FBI's investigation into possible coordination between Trump's campaign and the Russians. Nunes and the other Republicans on the committee have accused the FBI of playing politics with the Russia investigation. The latest subpoena covers a variety of issues, including the Trump campaign's relationship with Russia, campaign adviser George PapadopoulosGeorge a1d647c40b

What's New In AutoCAD?

Improved AutoCAD rendering: See more details of your objects, even in dark areas. Display a context-sensitive tooltip that lets you preview, discuss, or comment on what you're seeing. (video: 1:28 min.) Layered editing: Modify the appearance of elements as you create them. Just like layers in Microsoft Word, AutoCAD now allows you to apply different appearances to the same object. (video: 1:50 min.) The new shape and style library: Create new shapes and styles to make your designs look the way you want them to. Just define the look of an object and apply that style to a different object or even the entire drawing. (video: 1:52 min.) CAD Leveling: Make sure your design matches the same scale as your project. Use a new measurement tool to make sure your CAD drawings are exactly the size and shape of your work. (video: 1:31 min.) New workflows for editing data: Edit tables and lists of numbers and text without relocating them. Just select the table, click where you want the selection to start, and drag to add selection. The table will automatically resize to fit the selection. (video: 1:20 min.) New Smart Tools: Align, interconnect, and place 3D components easily. Just hold your mouse over the center of an object, and AutoCAD will automatically line it up with other 3D components on the page. (video: 2:01 min.) New settings for controlling how objects respond to mouse and keyboard input: Control where, how, and when you can move objects. With the new settings, you can also choose to enable or disable keyboard input. With this feature, you can use your keyboard to move objects, zoom into a drawing, and perform other actions even if your mouse is locked or in a different application. (video: 1:22 min.) New toolbars: Make drawing and annotation faster and more productive. The new toolbars let you find information quickly, and the new task panes let you work on different drawing activities in a single place. (video: 2:03 min.)
