If $n > 2$, then $x_{-1} + x_{-2} + \dots + x_{-n} \geq n$ with $x_{-i} \in \mathbb{Z}^+$. Let $x_{-1} = 1$ and $x_{-2} = x_{-3} = \dots = x_{-n} = 0$, $x_{-n} = 1$ or 2 . Without considering $x_{-n} = 1$, how to prove this? A: Without considering $x_{-n} = 1$, it is known as triangle inequality (The idea is quite simple. Define a linear operator $\sum_{i=1}^n \dots x_{-i}$ $\mapsto \sum_{i=1}^n x_{-i}$ where $x_{-i} \in \mathbb{Z}^+$ for any i . The operator is well-defined by linearity and positive-homogeneity. Assume the triangle inequality holds for $\sum_{i=1}^n x_{-i}$. Then $\left| \sum_{i=1}^n x_{-i} \right| + \left| \sum_{i=1}^n y_{-i} \right| \geq \left| \sum_{i=1}^n (x_{-i} + y_{-i}) \right|$ and the inequality for $\sum_{i=1}^n x_{-i}$ follows. The equality holds iff $x_{-i} = y_{-i}$ for all i . Effect of a diet containing peanut powder on body composition in the chicken. 1. There have been proposed various techniques for improving the visibility of road sign information and the ability to read such road sign information. For example, Japanese Patent Application Publication H11-114344 and PCT International Publication WO 2007/078462 A1 disclose an apparatus that detects information about an obstacle, such as a road sign, using a camera, and, when the obstacle information is detected, the camera is automatically changed over from an original viewpoint (current viewpoint) to another viewpoint so as to move the image. Specifically, when the obstacle information is detected, the original viewpoint is turned from a front viewpoint to a left-right viewpoint, and the image of the obstacle is displayed in a rotatable state in relation to the road information that is set to be visible at a viewpoint in the front of a vehicle. The present invention relates to a pipe-laying machine. Such a pipe-laying machine can be used in particular for laying on the bottom of a river, sea or canal, in order to protect it against the accumulation of silt and to form, for example, a new foundation for the construction of a bridge over a river or a sea or a canal. For this purpose, the pipe-laying machine is positioned on the bottom, the formation of the foundation being carried out along the length of the bottom, as desired, in order to be able to dig a trench for the foundations that are to be formed by the pipe-laying machine, and is moved over the bottom of the river or the sea, while the bottom is being protected against the silt that may be deposited there. When laying pipes in such a manner, it is necessary for the pipe to be glued to a pipe runner. Such a pipe runner comprises a lower pipe runner piece that extends along the bottom to be laid and on which the pipe is glued during the pipe-laying operation, and an upper pipe runner piece that
